

MUHAMMED SAVAD

MERN STACK DEVELOPER

PROFILE

As a self-taught full-stack developer with a strong understanding of the MERN stack, I bring a unique perspective to the world of web development. Despite my background not being in the IT field, my passion for technology and eagerness to learn has led me to become proficient in the latest web development tools and technologies. With a deep understanding of MongoDB, Express.js, React, and Node.js, I am capable of building scalable and robust full-stack web applications. My experience in self-learning has honed my critical thinking and problem-solving skills, enabling me to tackle complex coding challenges with ease. I am highly motivated to work with diverse teams and collaborate to build innovative solutions that drive business growth.
